PAGE 220

Ranged Weapons in Melee: Remove the statement that a pistol attack in melee is considered in close range.

Replace the text as follows:

SOAKING

Heroes and some NPCs may make a Soak roll, reducing the damage suffered by one Wound per Icon and two Wounds per Exalted Icon. Once characters have had a chance to mitigate the damage, apply the remaining damage to the character as Wounds.

The roll to Soak is not a test, does not use the Wrath Dice, nor does it have a Difficulty Number. Thus, the Soak roll is unaffected by anything that increases the DN, such as being Wounded or Heavily Wounded. Wrath may be spent to re-roll failures on a Soak roll as if it were a test.

THE COST OF SOAKING

Survival is far from guaranteed in the grim darkness of the far future. It is difficult for any character to withstand serious damage and continue to fight. The rules for soaking differ for player characters and NPCs in the following ways:

For heroes, choosing to Soak wounds costs 1 Shock, plus 1 additional Shock per Wound negated, immediately after the Toughness roll. Essentially, the Soak roll converts the incoming Wounds into Shock.

NPCs may not soak unless the GM chooses to spend a point of Ruin. If the GM elects to spend Ruin for the NPC, they may then make a Soak roll and suffer 1 Shock plus 1 additional Shock per Wound negated. Troop threats may not Soak at all.

The Cost of Soaking: Add the following:

When choosing to Soak, follow these steps:

Step 1: The character suffers 1 Shock.

Step 2: The character makes a Soak roll.

Step 3: Count the total icons; each icon converts one Wound into one Shock.

Step 4: After soaking the damage, any remaining damage is inflicted as Wounds.

PAGE 228

Defiance Checks: Change all instances of “test” to “roll,” as a Defiance check does not follow the rules for tests.

PAGE 228

Defiance Checks: Change “A result of a 1 on the check counts as two failures” to “A result of a 2 or a 3 is one failure, whilst a 1 on the check counts as two failures.”

Death: Change “suffers in excess of double wounds suffered” to “suffers double their maximum Wounds from one attack.”

Annihilation: Change “suffers damage of maximum wounds” to “in excess of double their maximum Wounds.”

CHAPTER 5: ADVENTURING

PAGE 247

Fire: The rules on p. 230 are correct. Change the third paragraph to “Burning characters take D3 Mortal Wounds at the start of their turn. In addition, a burning character must pass a Willpower test (DN 3) or suffer the effects of being pinned until the end of the round and spends their turn crying out in pain or flailing around in an attempt to put out the fire. Passing the Willpower test means the character may act normally. As an action, a character can attempt to put out the fire by making an Agility test (DN 3). Passing the test means the character is no longer on fire.”

Shifting and Persuasion Tests: Change to “For every shifted Exalted Icon, the hero may adjust the relationship with the character by one step in any direction.”

PAGE 267

Wealth: “Tiers also limit a character’s Maximum Wealth (see page 80).” Replace this with “A character’s maximum Wealth is equal to the campaign’s Tier+3, though the Game Master may use their discretion to allow for increasing this limit if it is appropriate to the campaign’s framework.”

Fightin’ Juice: Change the effects to “grants a +2d bonus to Melee attacks and a +1 bonus to all results of Defiance checks until the end of the scene.”

CHAPTER 7: PSYCHIC POWERS

Sustaining Psychic Powers: Add the following sentence: “When a power causes Shock for every time increment of sustaining, shock damage is applied at the end of each increment.”
